

ENAP

Jorge Lobato Urrutia

ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT

A graduate in Sciences, with a mention in Geology, an MBA in Management Systems, a degree in Project Management, and certified in Risk Management. Extensive international experience with a trajectory in leading multinational corporations in the global mining market. He has been a member of the board of directors of Barrick Peru and Compañía de Transmisión Andina and has held positions as the CEO of Mines, as well as Environmental, Expansion Project, and Mine Closure Management, among others. Since February 2022, he has been ENAP's corporate environmental manager. Before joining the company, he was the expansion manager of the Barrick Pueblo Viejo mine in the Dominican Republic.