

FUELS PRICE PARITY REPORT IN CHILE

Enap does not regulate or set fuel prices in the Chilean market. Its role is solely as a wholesale marketer of the different hydrocarbon derivatives to the distribution companies, which directly serve consumers.

Considering the Import Parity Price rule, the Fuel Price Stabilization Mechanism (MEPCO), the Oil Price Stabilization Fund (FEPP) and the mechanisms established by the authority, for this week it is estimated that the price variation for 93 and 97 octane gasoline will be 0 pesos per liter ($/lt) in both cases. On the other hand, a variation of 0 peso ($/lt) in the price of diesel is estimated. Finally, it is estimated that the price of LPG for vehicular use will not change either.
