

REPORT: PARITY IMPORT PRICE CALCULATION

Enap does not regulate or set fuel prices in the Chilean market. Its role is solely as a wholesale marketer of the different hydrocarbon derivatives to the distribution companies, which directly serve consumers.

Considering the Import Parity Price rule, the Fuel Price Stabilization Mechanism (MEPCO), the Petroleum Price Stabilization Fund (FEPP) and the mechanisms established by the authority, the calculation of the import parity price for this week results in a decrease in the price of 93 and 97 octane gasoline, of 28.6 pesos per liter ($/lt). The price of diesel will drop 20.9 pesos per liter ($/lt). Meanwhile, LPG for vehicular use will fall 28.6 pesos per liter ($/lt).
